Executive summary

Edisto Beach State Park is an oceanfront South Carolina state park on Edisto Island with RV-friendly campsites, beach access, and marsh-side nature areas. For a spring meet-up with two rigs (~32 ft), April–May offers mild weather and fewer crowds than summer, but popular weekends (spring break/Easter) can book early.

Best spring windows (April–May)

- Late March through mid-May is typically the sweet spot: comfortable temperatures, good birding, fewer crowds than summer.
- Expect higher demand around spring break weeks and Easter weekend—reserve early if targeting those dates.
- Weekdays and non-holiday weekends tend to be quieter and make it easier to get adjacent sites.

Campground + RV notes (two rigs ~32 ft)

- Two campground areas: ocean-side and marsh-side (Live Oak). Both have water + electric hookups.
- Officially, several sites accommodate RVs up to ~40 ft; with 32 ft rigs you should have plenty of options, but still confirm site fit and maneuvering room per site photos/maps.
- All standard sites support 20/30/50 amp service; dump station available on-site; restrooms include hot showers.
- Strategy for friends: book specific site numbers that are adjacent/nearby; if you must book separately, coordinate site numbers in advance and call the park office to ask about nearby availability.

Reservations & policies (high level)

- Reservations are handled through the SC State Parks reservation system; minimum stay is often 2 nights (check your dates).
- Book as early as possible if you want side-by-side sites. Spring weekends can go quickly.
- Always verify cancellation rules and check-in/out times on the reservation page for your specific booking.

Things to do (spring-friendly)

- Beach time + sunrise/sunset walks.
- Marsh boardwalks and nature trails; spring birding can be excellent.
- Kayaking/SUP in tidal creeks (plan around tides).
- Fishing: surf/pier nearby (check local rules and licenses).
- Environmental Learning Center / ranger programs (schedule varies).
- Biking: island roads and park areas—great for a group ride.

Nearby events & festivals (check current-year dates)

- Edisto Chamber of Commerce posts community events, markets, and seasonal happenings.
- Spring craft/arts markets often appear in late March/early April (varies year to year).
- Recommendation: pick trip dates first, then confirm the event calendar for that exact week.

Sample itineraries

3-day weekend

• Day 1: arrive, set up, sunset beach walk, group cookout. • Day 2: morning kayak/birding, afternoon beach + biking, optional ranger program. • Day 3: short trail/boardwalk, brunch, depart.

4-day (more relaxed)

• Day 1: arrive + beach. • Day 2: marsh paddle + local seafood night. • Day 3: optional Charleston day trip or slow beach day. • Day 4: final walk + depart.

Group coordination checklist

• Share site numbers + arrival windows ahead of time. • Bring a shared grocery list and one “group meal” night. • Pack bug spray (marsh areas), sunscreen, and a tide chart for paddling. • If rain: keep a Charleston indoor backup plan (museums/food/markets).
